

A Multidisciplinary Peer-Reviewed E-Magazine

Email: editor@agrolifefrontiers.in

Website: <https://agrolifefrontiers.in>

Call for Editorial Board Members

AgroLife Frontiers: A Multidisciplinary Peer-Reviewed E-Magazine

Date: 10/01/2026

AgroLife Frontiers invites applications from academicians, scientists, researchers and professionals to join its Editorial Board. We seek dedicated experts to contribute to the academic growth, quality assurance and global visibility of the magazine.

Roles and Responsibilities of Editorial Board Members

Editorial Board Members will:

- Provide academic guidance and contribute to the editorial vision and direction of the magazine.
- Review submitted manuscripts for quality, originality, relevance and scientific rigor.
- Offer constructive and objective feedback to authors to enhance academic and editorial standards.
- Assist the editorial team in maintaining ethical standards, publication policies and scope compliance.
- Participate in editorial decision-making, including recommendations on acceptance, revision, or rejection of submissions.
- Promote the magazine within academic, research and professional networks to enhance visibility and impact.
- Participate in editorial meetings, discussions and policy development when required.
- Advise on special issues, thematic sections and strategic development initiatives of the magazine.

Benefits for Editorial Board Members

- Receive a Life Membership Certificate in recognition of your valuable academic and editorial contributions.
- Opportunity to publish up to six articles per year as first author without publication charges.
- Receive an Appreciation Certificate upon successful completion of four years of service as an Editorial Board Member.
- Enhance your academic and professional profile through association with a multidisciplinary peer-reviewed e-magazine and participation in editorial activities.

Eligibility Criteria

Applicants should have:

- Academic or professional background in science, technology, agriculture, fisheries, or allied disciplines
- Research publications, teaching experience, or professional expertise
- Interest in scientific publishing and knowledge dissemination

Application Process

Interested candidates are requested to submit:

- Detailed Biodata / Curriculum Vitae (Please send via email to editor@agrolifefrontiers.in)
- Editorial Board Membership Application Form (Available on website in download section)
- Processing fee (Available on website)

How to Apply

Applicants can submit their application either through the online application form available on the magazine website or by emailing their detailed biodata and required documents to editor@agrolifefrontiers.in

We look forward to collaborating with distinguished professionals to promote interdisciplinary research, innovation, and scientific knowledge dissemination.

For any queries, please feel free to contact the Editorial Office at editor@agrolifefrontiers.in or Phone/WhatsApp: 07340026386 / 07651938396

Editorial Office
AgroLife Frontiers
A Multidisciplinary Peer-Reviewed E-Magazine